The screenshot shows the Cambridge IGCSE Spanish Paper 1 Mock Exam instructions page. At the top left is the Cambridge International Education logo and the text '0530 Spanish Paper 1'. Below this, on the left side, it says 'Cambridge IGCSE™', 'SPANISH', '0530', 'Paper 1 Listening', and '44 minutes'. On the right side, under the heading 'MOCK EXAM', there are sections for 'INSTRUCTIONS' and 'INFORMATION'. The instructions state: 'There are thirty-seven questions on this paper. Answer all questions.' The information section lists: 'The total mark for this paper is 40.', 'Each correct answer will score one mark.', 'You can use paper for your rough work. This paper will not be marked.', 'A notepad can be accessed by clicking on this icon [notepad icon]. Notes you make in the notepad will not be marked.', and 'A highlighter can be accessed by clicking on this icon [highlighter icon]'. A 'Next >' button is located in the bottom right corner.

You can choose whether the clock counts down, up or is hidden clicking on the arrow next to the clock. A warning will be displayed ten minutes from the end of the mock exam.

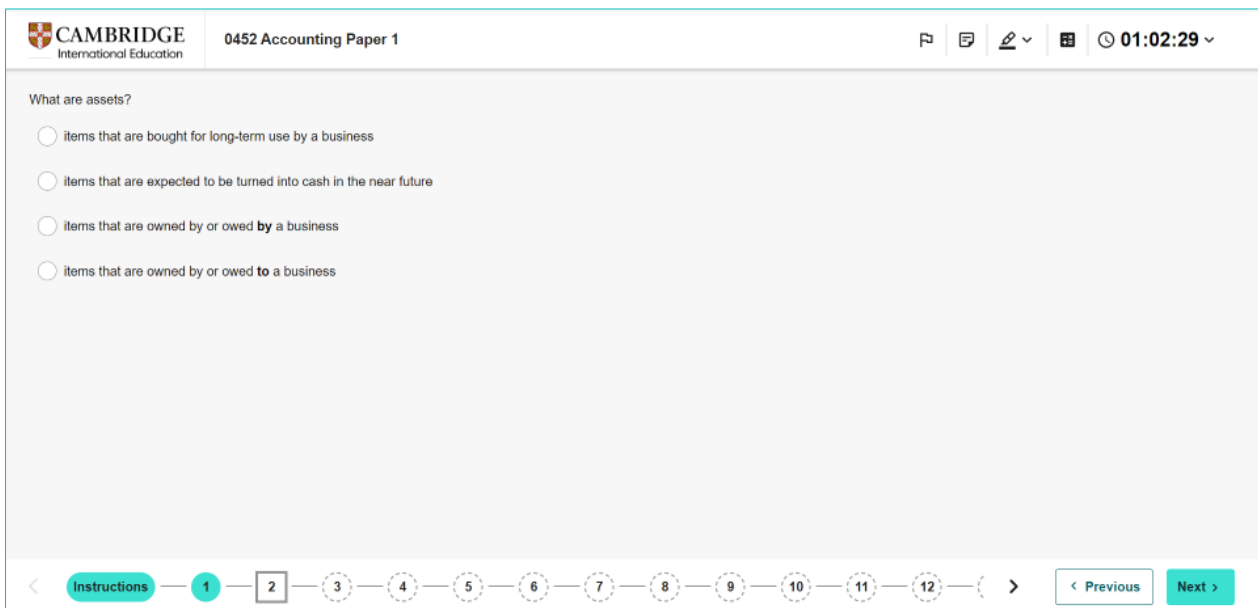

The first page you will see is a repeat of the instructions page that you can return to at any point during the mock exam.

Navigating through the exam

You can navigate through the mock using the buttons in the bottom right corner. The Next > moves you forward to the next question. The < Previous moves you to the previous question.

There is a slight delay as you navigate between questions, and you will see  on the screen.

You can also navigate directly to any question by clicking the question numbers along the bottom of the page. The colour and appearance of these question numbers shows the status of each as follows.

-  Solid green colour - you have answered the question
-  Half solid filled colour - you have partially answered the question. This may be where there are multiple answer spaces and not all have been completed. In a small number of cases, say where a trace table needs to be completed, not all the answer spaces will be used so the question will always show as partially answered.
-  Square outline - this is the question you are currently working on
-  Dotted circle – you haven't viewed the question yet
-  Solid circle – you have viewed but not answered the question
-  Flagged – if a question has been flagged as you may want to come back to it.

The Previous and Next buttons always appear in the bottom right corner. However, whether all the question numbers are visible will be determined by the size of your computer's screen and screen resolution.

If all question numbers are not visible, you can use the forward and backwards arrows to move to the next or previous set of question numbers respectively. The arrows will be greyed out if it is not possible to move any further in either direction.

Some exams have more than one question on a page, so the question numbers are shown in groups at the bottom of the page:

Answering questions

The mock exams use several different question types which require a different answer. The different question types used are covered here but may not feature in each mock exam.

Multiple Choice

Click the radio button next to your chosen answer which will become highlighted. If you wish to change your answer, click another radio button which will become highlighted.

0510 English as a Second Language Paper 1

100%

Exercise 2

Read the article about four young people (A–D) who live by the sea. Then answer Questions 7(a)–(f).

Why I love living by the sea

A Amin

I grew up in the mountains, away from the coast. Everything there was green as far as you could see, and we were so high up. It's the opposite now – I love seeing the ocean. I get fantastic views from every window in my home as the beach isn't far away. I spend a lot of time there and I'm always bringing in sand on my clothes – enough to build a sandcastle, my mum says! Last year, I started working in a local craft shop during the holidays, selling paintings of the sea by local artists. After spending their holidays looking at the sea, tourists want a souvenir to take back. I have to admit there aren't many opportunities outside the tourism industry here, especially in what I want to do, which is engineering. I'm determined to follow my dream, so unfortunately I'll have to make some big decisions. I know.

B Joey

For each statement, choose the correct letter A, B, C or D.

Question 7

Which young person ...

(a) says that the location inspires them to be creative? [1]

A

B mentions being able to see the sea wherever they are in their house? [1]

(c) admits to having an unusual opinion about an activity? [1]

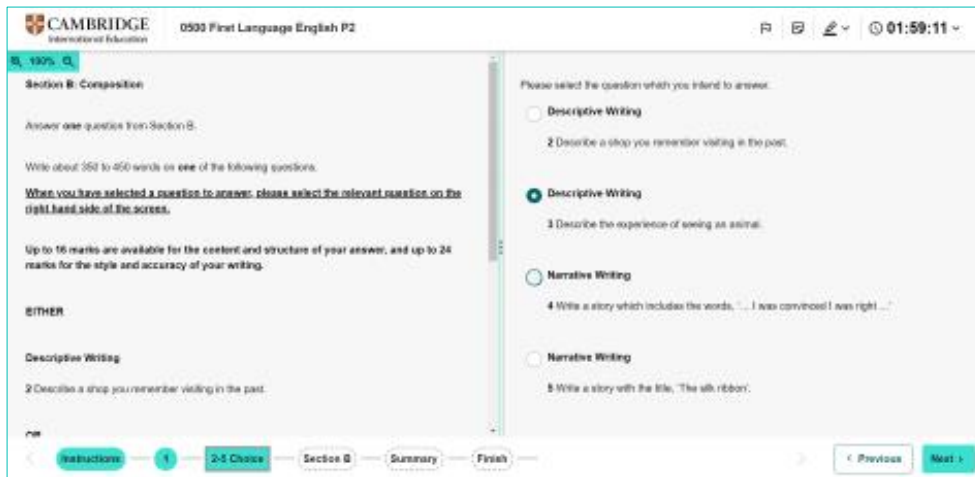

(d) describes an intention to gain some knowledge about something found locally? [1]

Optional questions

In some mock exams you do not need to answer all questions but rather you can choose which ones to answer. Where this is the case clear information is provided to outline how many questions you must answer.

In the example below you have a choice of which question you wish to answer. Click the radio button next to the question you wish to answer on the right-hand side of the screen. You will then navigate to the selected question to add your response.

Audio

Some questions will include an audio soundtrack to listen to before giving your answers.

The audio will play as soon as you open each question. You cannot pause, rewind or fast forward the audio. In some exams, you may listen to the audio a second time by clicking the play button - the instructions for the exam will explain whether this is possible

In some cases, you will not be able to move to the next question until the audio has finished playing - time is allowed for this in the overall exam duration as this is part of the question

You can change the volume of the recording by clicking the volume icon...

Text Stimulus

Some questions use a split page template. Typically, this is where information often text extracts must be referred to when answering question parts.

Where a split page template is used you will see a vertical divider that splits the page into two halves. You can increase or decrease the size of either half by dragging the divider from the three dots. After resizing you may also need to use the scroll bar to scroll through stimulus material and questions.

There may be more than one text available within a question. This can be selected by clicking on the different resources available in the column on the left. The selected text will become highlighted as shown below.

The screenshot displays the Cambridge International Education exam interface for '0500 First Language English P2'. The interface is split into two main sections. On the left, under the 'Resources' tab, two text extracts are visible: 'Text A' and 'Text B'. 'Text A' is highlighted in light green. The text of 'Text A' discusses over-tourism, mentioning that it has entered the era of too much tourism, with sand being removed by tourists, fines imposed on tourists, and local people fearing being priced out. It also mentions that in Thailand, a popular destination has been closed indefinitely to allow its ecosystem to recover. 'Text B' discusses over-tourism in different places, mentioning European cities and Iceland. The right section contains the question instructions: 'Read Text A and Text B in the insert and then answer Section A, Question 1 on this question paper.' Below this, it specifies 'Section A: Directed Writing' and 'Question 1: Write an article for young people, advising them what they need to consider when deciding on a holiday destination.' It lists requirements: 'In your article you should: evaluate the ideas, opinions and attitudes in both texts; suggest what young people should consider in order to make a responsible decision.' It also states: 'Base your article on what you have read in both texts, but be careful to use your own words. Address both of the bullet points. Write about 250 to 350 words.' At the bottom, it says 'Up to 15 marks are available for the content of your answer, and up to 25 marks for the quality of your writing.' The interface includes a navigation bar at the bottom with 'Instructions', '1', '2-5 Choice', '3', 'Summary', and 'Finish' buttons, and 'Previous' and 'Next' buttons.

Formatting tool bar

For some question types a standard formatting tool bar will be available. You can use this to apply formatting to the text in your answer, such as copy, paste, font size, bold, italic, underline, text positioning on the screen and bulleted and numbered lists. For questions that have guidance on a word limit, a word counter will also show at the end of the response area.

The screenshot shows the Cambridge International Education exam interface for '0500 First Language English P2'. The question asks to 'Address both of the bullet points. Write about 250 to 350 words.' and states that 'Up to 15 marks are available for the content of your answer, and up to 25 marks for the quality of your writing.' A rich text editor toolbar is visible with options for bold, italic, underline, strikethrough, text color, background color, bulleted list, numbered list, indent, outdent, link, unlink, and text alignment. The left sidebar shows 'Resources' with 'Text A' and 'Text B' available.

Resources

Some exams may contain reference material such as the Periodic Table shown below. This will normally be presented to you as part of the instructions at the start of the exam and can also be accessed by clicking through the questions until you reach the resource at the end of the exam.

The screenshot shows the Cambridge International Education exam interface for '0620 Chemistry Paper 1'. The resource is 'The Periodic Table of Elements'. The table includes element symbols, names, atomic numbers, and relative atomic masses. A 'Key' box explains the symbols: atomic number, atomic symbol, name, and relative atomic mass. The 'Periodic Table' button in the bottom navigation bar is highlighted with a red box.

Tools

Several tools are available to use when sitting your mock exam but not all tools are available in all mock exams.

Clock/Timer

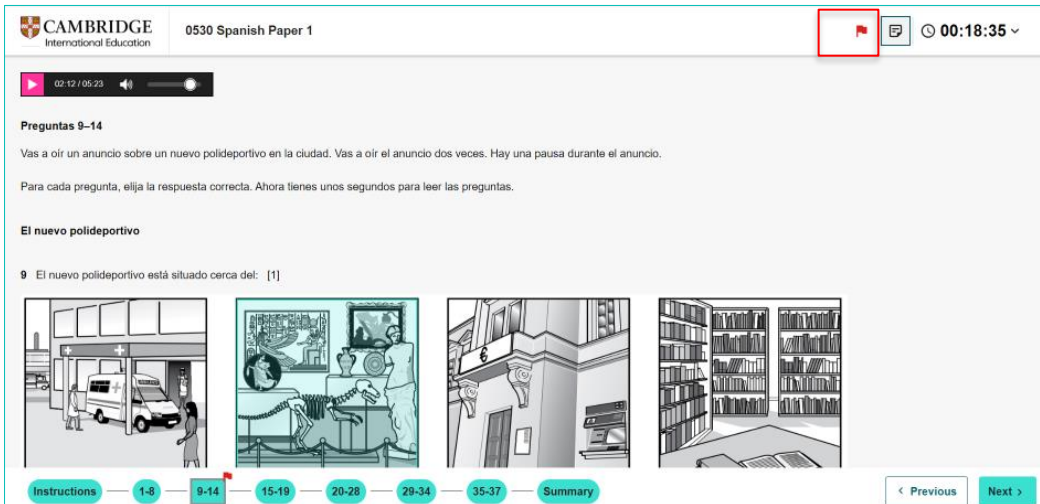

If the exam is timed, the time remaining is shown (Count down) by default on the clock. You can choose the Count up option if you wish. The clock can be hidden by selecting the Hide clock option and unhidden by selecting Count down or Count up

Flag

You can choose to flag a question as a reminder if you need to revisit it later in your mock exam. To flag the current question, click on the Flag icon in the top right of the page whilst on the question you wish to flag. The flag will then change to red and the relevant question number at the bottom of the page will be flagged.

To remove the flag from a question, navigate to the question and click the red Flag icon in the top right corner.

Any questions that are flagged will show the red flag in the Summary page.

Highlighter and Sticky Note

You can highlight text and add sticky notes in any question during your mock exam. To open the highlighter, click the Pencil icon in the top right corner.

The Pencil icon will turn blue, and the options displayed. To highlight text, select either the blue or yellow colour, a tick will show in the colour selected, and drag your cursor over the text you want to highlight.

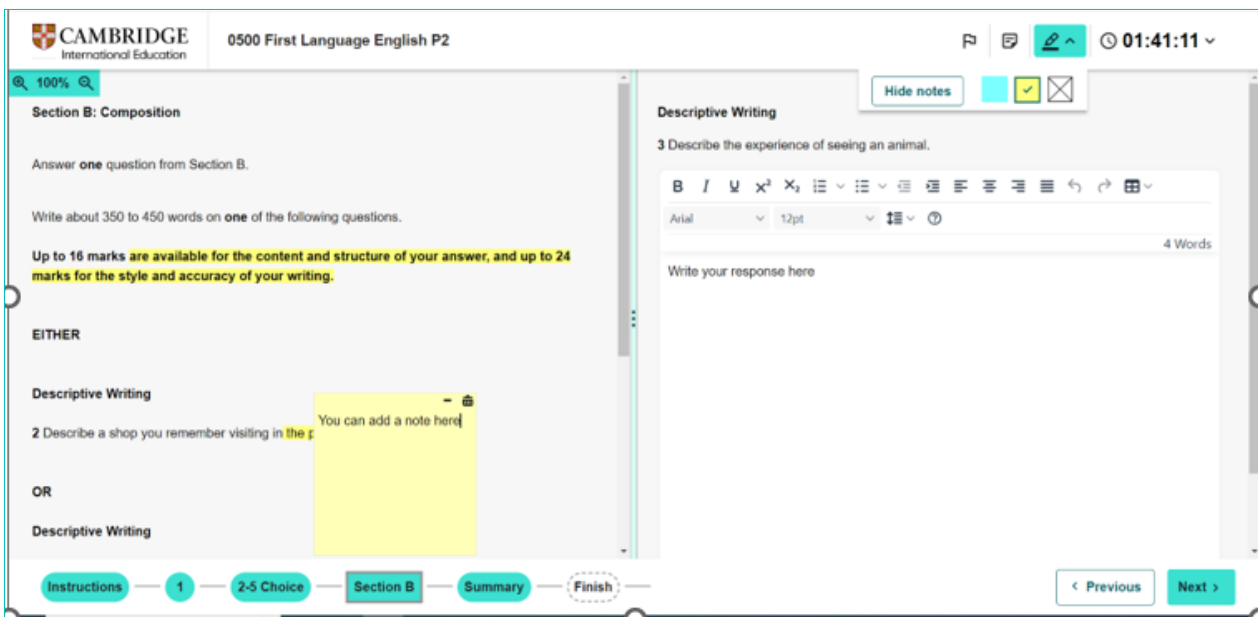

To delete any highlighting added by mistake select the X, next to the yellow colour and a tick will show it is selected. Then click the highlighting to be removed.

If you want to add a sticky note, hover over some highlighted text, and click the pencil icon that pops up.

This adds a sticky note, of the same colour as the highlighted text, that you can type notes on.

To hide any sticky notes added click the Hide notes button in the tool's options. The button changes to Show notes and can be used to show any sticky notes added.

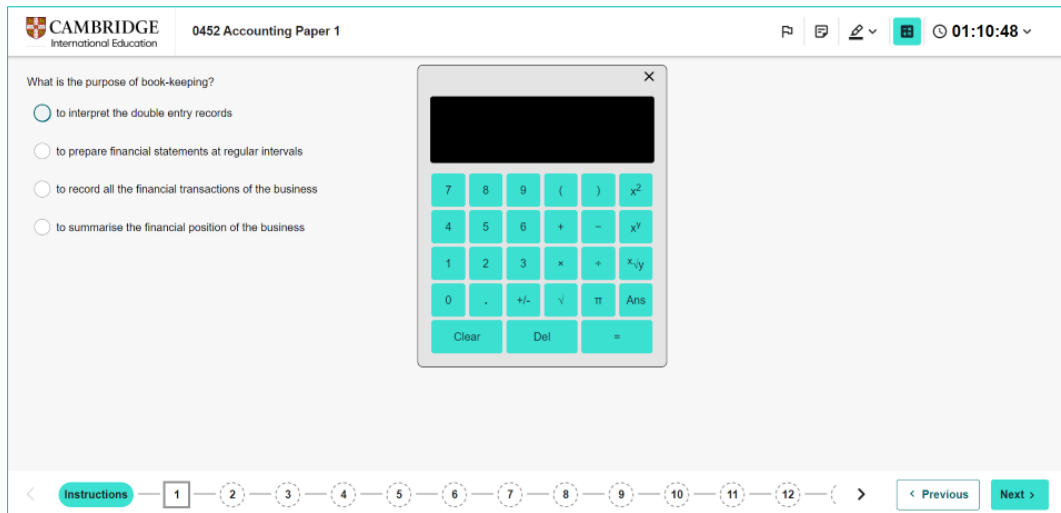

To delete a sticky note, use the bin icon in the note itself or select the X in the tool's options and click on the note.

Calculator

hide it. The calculator can also be dragged around the screen, so it does not get in the way of anything you want to see.

Notepad

Most exams will have a notepad. You can use the notepad tool to record notes in any question during your mock exam. To open the notepad, click the Notepad icon in the top right corner.

The Notepad icon will turn blue, and the notepad will open in the middle of the question. You can enter your notes and use the formatting tools available as you choose. The notepad is for your personal use only and any notes recorded will not be marked.

You can drag the notepad around the screen, so it does not obscure the question you are working on.

To close the notepad either click the blue Notepad icon in the top right corner or click the X in the top right corner of the notepad itself. Any notes added to the notepad persist between the questions in the mock exam.

Zoom

You can use the zoom tool to increase or decrease the magnification on any question during your mock exam. The zoom tool is in the top left corner below the Cambridge International logo. The default magnification is 100% and this is shown on the zoom tool. The maximum magnification you can use is 200%.

Click the  plus symbol to make the page bigger.

Click the  minus symbol to make the page smaller

The screenshot shows the Cambridge International Education exam interface. At the top, it displays the Cambridge International Education logo and the exam title "0500 First Language English P2". The interface is split into two main sections. On the left, there is a "Resources" panel with a zoom tool set to 110%. Below the zoom tool, there are two text boxes labeled "Text A" and "Text B". Text A is titled "Text A: Can the world be saved from over-tourism?" and contains two paragraphs of text. Text B is titled "Text B" and contains one paragraph of text. On the right, there is a question panel. It starts with the instruction "Read Text A and Text B in the insert and then answer Section A, Question 1 on the question paper." Below this, it says "Section A: Directed Writing" and "Question 1". The question asks the student to "Write an article for young people, advising them what they need to consider when on a holiday destination." It lists two bullet points: "evaluate the ideas, opinions and attitudes in both texts" and "suggest what young people should consider in order to make a responsible decision." It also states "Base your article on what you have read in both texts, but be careful to use your own words." and "Address both of the bullet points." The question concludes with "Write about 250 to 350 words." At the bottom of the question panel, it says "Up to 15 marks are available for the content of your answer, and up to 25 marks are available for the form of your answer." The interface also includes a top right corner with icons for a notepad, a pencil, and a clock.

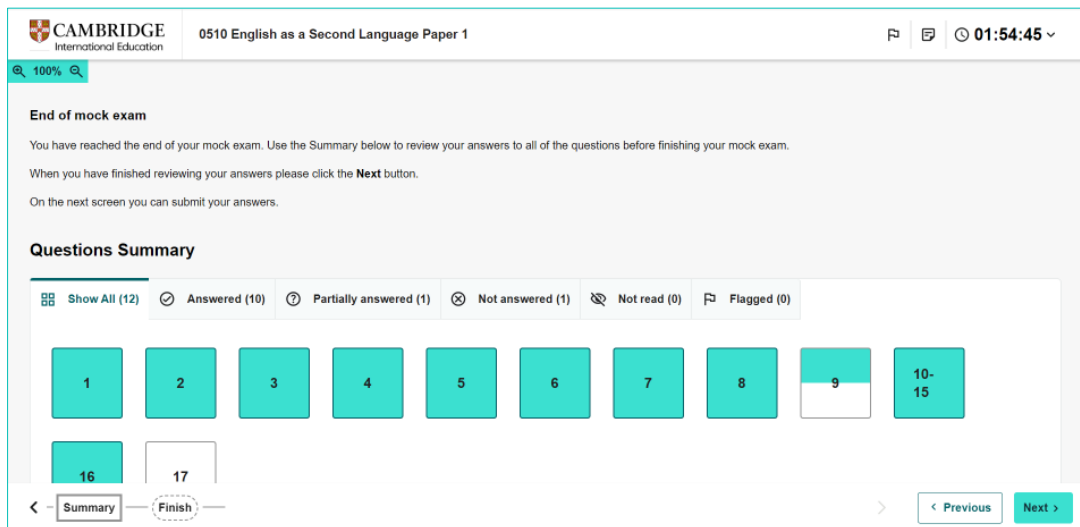

As you increase the magnification the question content will get larger and may start to wrap. If the question uses the split page template, you may need to adjust the split between the two halves. You may also see scroll bars appear on the question and need to use these to see the question content that has moved off the visible screen area.

Summary page

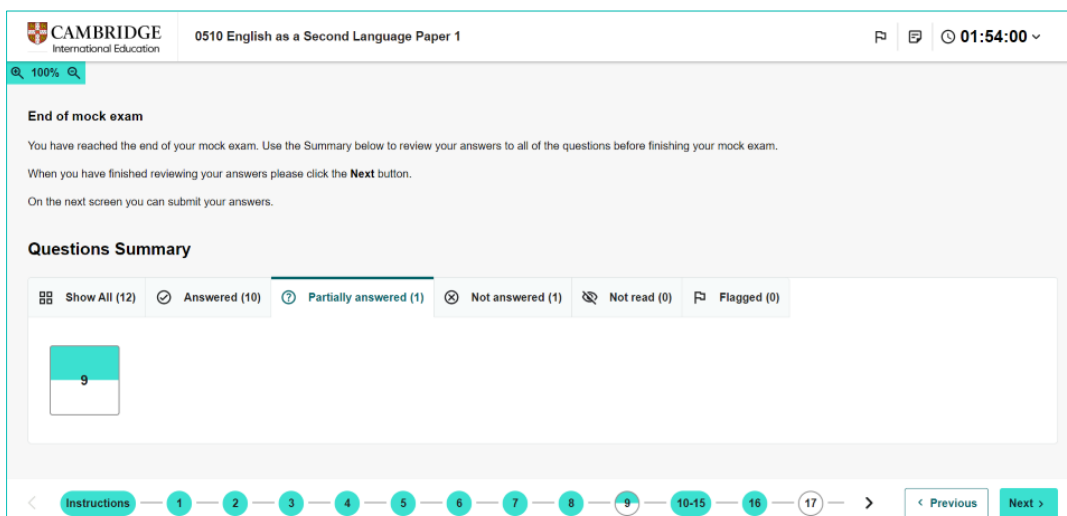

After the last question in your mock exam, you will see the summary page. This shows the status of the questions in your mock exam and allows you to check you have answered each question before you submit. The statuses are the same as those shown on the question numbers when navigating your mock exam.

The summary page can be accessed at any time during the exam by selecting the summary button at the bottom of the page. You may need to navigate to the end of the questions to see this.

The summary page shows all the questions in the exam and their status including the number at that status for e.g. 1 question in the screen shown below is not answered.

You can filter by each status by clicking on the tab for a particular status. Click the relevant tab to see the questions filtered by status. In the example below all the partially answered questions are shown. You can click on each question number to return to that question to check you have answered the question fully.

You will need to navigate back to the summary page to click each question number or use the question numbers along the bottom. Alternatively, you can use the Previous button to navigate back to each question.

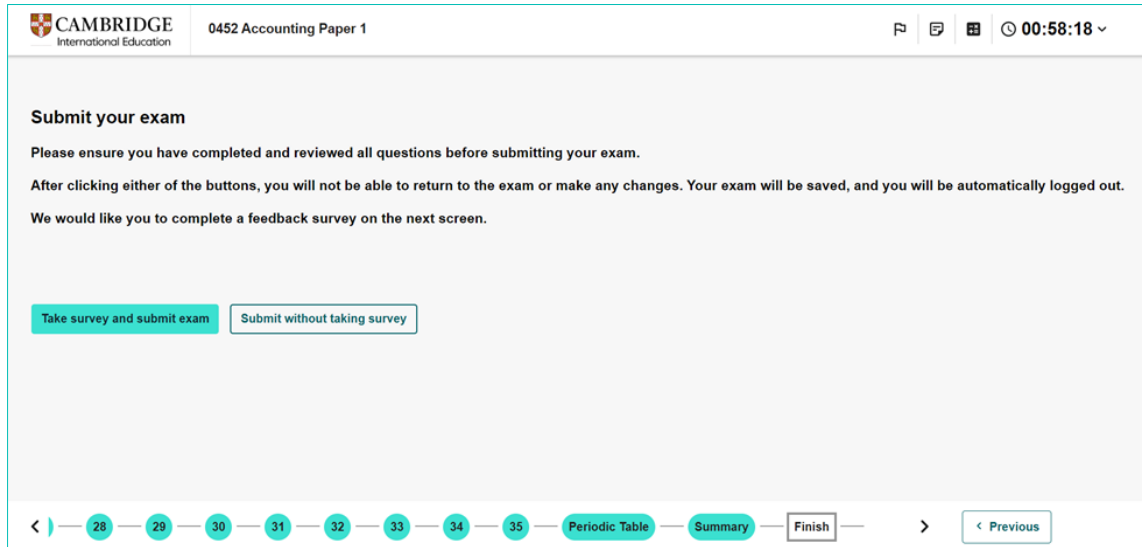

A question can have more than one status and will appear in the filter for each. For example, a flagged and not answered question appears in both filters.

The summary page also gives some instructions about what completing an optional survey and submitting your mock exam.

Finishing the exam

Once you have reviewed your answers in the summary page you must submit your mock exam for marking. Click the Next button to move to the finish page.

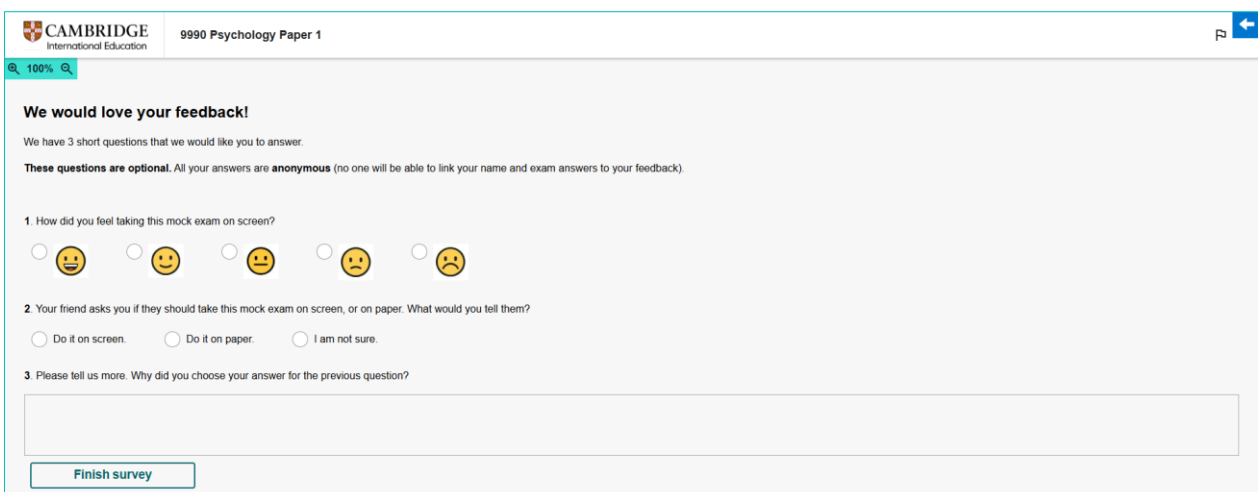

You have two options:

- Take survey and submit exam – this takes you to an optional survey with three short questions about your experience of sitting the mock exam.
- Submit without taking survey – this submits your mock exam immediately.

Be aware that clicking either option means that you will no longer be able to access your mock exam. So, ensure you have reviewed your answers fully before proceeding.

Take survey and submit exam

If you would like to complete the optional survey, click the Take survey and submit exam button. This opens the optional survey on a new page.

Complete the questions and then click the Finish survey button. Your mock exam is now submitted for marking and you will return to the Cambridge International login page.

Any feedback you give in the survey will be used for research purposes only and will not affect your mark at all.

Submit without taking survey

If you would not like to take the survey, select the Submit without taking the survey button. Your mock exam is now submitted for marking and you will return to the Cambridge International login page.
